

AI-generated classroom reference

These images were generated or edited using OpenAI imagegen for this course. They are fictional visual examples, not photographs or evidence of real people/products. The coral bottle is a generated reference; the teal bottle is its edited variant. The retail scene contains fictional adults and is a one-image detector illustration, not a representative validation dataset. Numerical similarity does not certify semantic correctness. Files are copied unchanged; keep this provenance note with them.